

Polo

Joan Gaspar

marset

Polo stands out for the fluidity of its movements. This design unites the head to a thin, light structure that can be fully extended while taking up hardly any space. It features a ball joint system for accurately aiming the light beam. The wheel switch is integrated into the top of the diffuser, and switches on and off when turned, a retro nod to the history of lamps. The Polo has a technical and solid design that is available in floor, table, ceiling and wall versions.
