The latest moves in the agile office

Nendo has reinvented the whiteboard, transforming the standard rectangle into a fabric-backed disc that rolls into place as a room divider. Meanwhile, this desk by US studio Ladies & Gentlemen puts the Shaker aesthetic on wheels, and Joan Gaspar's lamp for Marset has a rechargeable lithium-ion battery, making it wire-free and utterly portable. Emeco may be best known for its aluminium chairs, but now Sam Hecht and Kim Colin have successfully applied its industrial aesthetic to shelving. ★
